Report on How to Lose a Week-end; Note to Laneburg

Everyone who fishes has some time or other had a lost week-end such as the one I am about to describe.

Gene Allen of The Star staff and your editor left Hope with the editor's boat at noon last Saturday on what was to have been a double-barreled outing. We were to try the fishing on Greer's Ferry, Heber Springs, and then join a party of newspaper and television staffers on a federally-invited tour of Blanchard Springs Caverns, which will be opened to the public next year.

We got to Heber Springs all right, taking Interstate 30 and 40 to Conway, then State 25 through Quitman to Heber. We had one bit of luck, fine accomodations at the new Colonial Inn and Restaurant, which is on the east side of State 25 after you have gone through Heber Springs and just before you reach the dam. And on the west side of the highway is the elaborate Dam Site Marina where we rented a slip for the boat.

The boat needed a battery charge; we had brought along my charger, and after making the hookup Gene and I went to the inn for a good dinner and a night's sleep. If we had known what was going to happen Sunday it would have interfered with our sleep.

Sunday morning we switched on the engine—and in the next three hours never got farther away from the dock than a couple of hundred yards. The engine would fire, but choked and stalled every time we went into gear. We knew what the trouble was: Cool, damp weather was gumming up the jets on the carburetors. We were prepared for that too, and put two cans of "Expel It" in the main tank—an action calculated to cause the engine to blast off and make tracks. But we got no cooperation, at least for a couple of hours.

Finally the engine accepted a load in reverse gear—but we backed away from the dock only to find the forward gear wasn't working. That was the end. It was a repeat performance of the time the late Carter Johnson and I spent all night on the Narrows in 1964. That started with a faulty electric shift also. Later on I learned how to dismantle the shift box and wire around it, leaving the boat permanently in forward gear—but in Heber Springs Sunday morning we were running out of time, being due at Blanchard Springs in two hours for the 1:15 cavern tour.

So we loaded the boat back on the trailer and took off—squarely in the face of a mountain squall. It rained all the rest of Sunday, all the way to Blanchard and back through Conway to south of Little Rock. And we missed the cavern show—because we were on the right road but drove 15 miles in the wrong direction and had to double back. We got some surface pictures on the federal reservation but nothing on the cavern interior.

When we turned off Interstate 30 at Prescott, Gene, who was driving, detected an odd noise in the trailer hitch and pulled into a service station for a checkup. The king bolt which holds the hitch together had snapped. The trailer was still attached to the car but could jump loose on a sudden stop. So we telephoned Ellis Stewart, good friend who is an electrical contractor, and left the boat and trailer at his house—while he is waiting for a replacement hitch.

A lost week-end—but as is the nature of men we'll try it all over again later in the season.

A postcard from Kathy Almand and Gail Munn, president and secretary, respectively, of the Laneburg Senior Class, reads under April 27 dating:

"The Laneburg Senior Class is planning a one-day float trip on the Buffalo River. We read in the Hope Star about your taking this trip and would like for you to tell us about the things we need to know."

But I know nothing first-hand about arrangements for a float on the Buffalo. The float trip I made with the late Carter Johnson about 1965 was on the White River, from Cotter down to Buffalo City. For the White River float you telephone the Town & Country Motel in Mountain Home for two nights' reservations and at the same time a one-day float reservation with Stewart's Fishing Service at Cotter, a business the motel will take care of for you.

But I know nothing about arrangements for the Buffalo. The Laneburg folks should do just what I would have to do: Telephone or write the following state office:

Alcoholic Beverage Control and Federal Officers along with Sheriff Henry Sinyard found 102 gallons of moonshine liquor stashed in the woods about 12 miles south of Hope last week. The moonshine was destroyed.

Sheriff Sinyard is shown with the liquor. Two white males have been taken into custody.

Vote Spotlight

Ohio, Indiana Election

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey battled Sen. George McGovern in Ohio and George C. Wallace in Indiana today as he sought a pair of Midwestern primary victories that would vault him to the front of the Democratic presidential race.

The Minnesota senator was favored in both elections, though McGovern mounted a late Ohio surge helped by endorsements from several key political leaders who had backed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

Humphrey and McGovern wound up their Ohio campaigning Monday night in Cleveland, paying visits to a Metropolitan Opera performance and a series of bowling alleys respectively.

Humphrey planned to spend today in Cleveland, while McGovern scheduled a quick trip to New York before flying back to Columbus.

Muskie, who abandoned active primary campaigning after several crippling setbacks, was on the ballot in both Ohio and Indiana.

Primaries were also being held today in Alabama and the District of Columbia.

In Ohio, which was electing 153 delegates to the Democratic National Convention in its first contested primary since 1956, showers across the state threatened to hold the turnout below the record 2.3 million forecast by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Humphrey, McGovern, Muskie and Sen. Henry M. Jackson were competing for virtually all Ohio delegate slots. Former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy also had a handful of delegates running. There was no preference vote as such, but voters could check the presidential candidate's name and thus vote for all his delegates.

Wallace Takes His Campaign to Texas

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

George Wallace stumps Texas again today—this time in search of presidential nominating delegates who will back him at the national Democratic convention.

And, while he flies to Beaumont and Corpus Christi and Houston, he will doubtless be keenly watching developments in Indiana and his home state of Alabama.

This is the first year presidential candidates have campaigned publicly for delegates in Texas.

Previously, the delegates were pledged to vote in a bloc at the national convention and were pretty well selected by the dominant political faction within the Democratic party.

This year, under national party rules, there can be no bloc voting.

So Wallace is seeking to persuade some if not all of the thousands of Democrats who will attend precinct conventions Saturday to throw their support to them.

The next week, delegates named in the precincts will hold county conventions. After that comes the state convention where the final list for the 130 Texas votes in the national convention will be selected.

Wallace seems unlikely to get all the Texas delegates, but any he can add to his present total will give him that much more influence when a Democratic nominee for president is selected.

The candidates sets down at Beaumont at 1:30 p.m., then flies along the coast to Corpus Christi for a 3 p.m. landing. He will hold plane-side rallies both places.

He arrives in Houston at 8 p.m. and his Texas campaign manager, Hall Timanus, says he plans a speech.

In Alabama's Tuesday primary, Wallace is seeking control of the state's 37 delegates to the national convention, but a court suit Monday questioning the manner of delegate selection may delay a decision until the suit is settled.

Rise in Welfare Costs Slowed

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rise in national welfare costs and the number of recipients slowed significantly the last half of 1971, according to new government statistics.

Officials speculate privately that the trend may be due to some state cutbacks in payments and eligibility to plug the dollar drain on their treasuries.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says the cost of all public assistance, including Medicaid and cash payments, rose 23 per cent to a new high of $17.7 billion last year.

A further breakdown not in the report indicates, however, that the first half-year increase of 26.9 per cent slowed to 19.5 per cent during the second half.

At year's end 14.8 million persons were receiving cash welfare payments, a 7.2-per-cent boost over the previous year but half the rate of increase for the last six-month period of 1971.

The report marks the first public release of welfare statistics on a calendar-year basis, rather than at the end of a fiscal year under which the government operates.

Asked to explain the change, a spokesman for HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service said it was because "the figures are becoming more significant all the time."

Timed for distribution this Wednesday, their release date was broken by the White House as part of an all-out attack Friday on the Senate Finance Committee's version of welfare reform.

HEW statisticians said average welfare payments in 1971 rose in 30 states and jurisdictions for old-age assistance, in 34 for aid to the blind, and in 40 for aid to the disabled and aid for families with dependent children.

AFDC rolls swelled by nearly one million adults and children last year to a new total 10.6 million. The cost to federal, state and local governments increased 27.8 per cent to $1.35 billion.

Medical-assistance payments climbed 24.1 per cent to $6.9 billion, while money payments totaled $10.8 billion. Other welfare-cost rises noted in the report were 18.9 per cent for the disabled, 1.4 per cent for the elderly and 2.6 per cent for the blind.

Payments for nursing-home care of poor people skyrocketed 54.6 per cent to nearly $230 million and emergency-assistance costs rose almost 70 per cent to $7.8 million.

Enemy Launches New Attacks Along Coast

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops launched fresh attacks today along South Vietnam's populous coastal lowlands, while government forces abandoned another base in the central highlands and retreated southward with their tanks following the loss of northernmost Quang Tri Province.

The new northern front was established 35 miles below the demilitarized zone, and the old imperial capital of Hue was in a panic for fear it would be attacked next.

With the battlefield situation deteriorating rapidly in parts of South Vietnam, top U.S. and South Vietnamese officials met to review the 34-day-old North Vietnamese offensive and map their next move.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, conferred with President Nguyen Van Thieu for over an hour in Independence Palace.

The battlefield situation at noon was:

—Communist forces pressed their drive to conquer all of northern Binh Dinh Province along the central coast with new assaults on Landing Zone English, a regimental headquarters that is the last strongpoint in the region.

—Fire Base Lima, on Highway 14 about six miles north of the provincial capital of Kontum City, was abandoned after heavy attacks. Up to 800 defenders fell back to tighten their defensive ring around Kontum City.

The Saigon command announced that more than 400 shells slammed into Landing Zone English on Monday, inflicting moderate casualties.

The attack was resumed early today. North Vietnamese troops drove to the barbed wire perimeter where they locked in heavy fighting with the government defenders. All U.S. advisers had been evacuated Monday.

Communist forces have extended their control to about 200,000 people along South Vietnam's central coast following the capture of the three northern districts in Binh Dinh Province.

The U.S. 7th Fleet announced that a fifth aircraft carrier, the Midway, had arrived from its base in Alameda, Calif., to join in air operations over North and South Vietnam aimed at slowing the North Vietnamese onslaught. It marked the first time in the war that five carriers, each with 65 to 75 planes, were operating off Indochina at the same time.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 649 strikes against North Vetnamese positions across South Vietnam, about two-thirds of them along the critical northern front below the DMZ.

U.S. B52 heavy bombers carried out another 75 strikes and moved their attacks closer to Hue. Several raids were 10 to 15 miles west of Hue.

The targets were enemy troop concentrations and staging areas, and the raids were the heaviest in more than four years.

Legendary FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, embodiment of the FBI and focus of law enforcement achievement and controversy for nearly half a century, is dead.

The 77-year-old director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation died of natural causes in his home Monday night, the Justice Department announced.

President Nixon, upon hearing of Hoover's death, called him a "truly remarkable man who served the country for 48 years under eight presidents with unparalleled devotion to duty and dedication." Nixon spoke emotionally of his "profound sense of personal loss."

Hoover was a virtual legend in the United States, an "untouchable" who died in office despite efforts by critics in recent years to have him retired.

He had shaped the FBI into a massive, powerful federal agency during his career.

Across Pennsylvania Avenue from the office where Hoover worked, a massive powerful federal building to house the FBI is under construction.

Even before Hoover's death, there had been continuing speculation about whether the new building would be named for him or perhaps might even house his final resting place.

Speculation on a successor to Hoover also began long before his death as political pressure to retire Hoover alternately waxed and waned.

It had seemed almost certain he would retire or be retired if the Democrats beat President Nixon in the November election. Nixon now will be able to pick a successor. Washington, D.C. police chief Jerry Wilson, a recent Nixon law enforcement favorite, had been prominently mentioned as a possible successor before Hoover's death.

Acting Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst issued a one-paragraph statement in which he said Hoover's body was found by his maid at approximately 8:30 a.m. today.

"It is with profound personal grief that I announce that J. Edgar Hoover passed away during the night at his residence," Kleindienst said. "His personal physician informed me that his death was due to natural causes."

The jut-jawed FBI head was permitted by presidential order to continue in his $42,500-a-year government job after reaching the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Hoover, unmarried, dominated the bureau during his lifetime as no man in any other federal agency. Wielding vast power, he was said to lavish on the FBI the pride and possessiveness of a stern and watchful parent.

He joined the bureau as its acting director in 1921 after several years as a $990-a-year Justice Department law clerk, and became director three years later.

Moon Rocks Different

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists who observed the first of Apollo 16's moon rocks say they appear to be different from any brought back by previous crews.

Inside the first bag unpacked Monday were four large rocks covered with gray dust which obscured features. The samples were gathered by the first astronaut team to explore the moon's highlands.

Dr. Patrick Butler, a Manned Spacecraft Center geologist, said that despite the dust they appeared to be similar to many of the Apollo 14 rocks "but they're much lighter. They seem to be composed of different material."

One of the rocks weighed about 10 pounds, Butler estimated, and the others were smaller. All were cracked, as if they had been hit by meteorites, he said, and one appeared to be white and sprinkled with black glass.

Most of the early samples are to be transferred to radiation laboratories for analysis of their composition.

Those opened Monday represent only a small part of the record 245 pounds of rocks collected in the Descartes highlands by astronauts John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr.

Discusses Law Day

JUDGE ROYCE WEISENBERGER

Judge Royce Weisenberger was speaker at the Hope Lions Monday meeting at the Town and Country.

The occasion for Judge Weisenberger's appearance was in observance of Law Day. This day is America's answer to Russia's May Day which features parades of military might.

The speaker covered law enforcement and court problems, stating that apathy on the part of the public hindered law enforcement and courts were bogged down with heavy work loads. Delay in bringing a criminal to trial is his best defense in that if put off long enough, he benefits by it.

Program Chairman, Calvin Smith, arranged the program.

Lion Elmer Smith reported that up until the noon luncheon $2,166.00 had been realized from the radiothon held Saturday for the Wm. Cox family. This was made possible as a public service by KXAR and the citizens of the area.

Guests present were: Sgt. Ray Davis, guest of Lion Dale Wylie; Rev. Norris Steele of Hope and Rev. Thurman Masters of DeWitt guests of Lion Austin Hutson.

Jim Clem of J&L Marine and Rev. Harold Freeman were inducted into the club by their sponsors, Lions Yancey Reynolds and Elmer Smith.

Angry, Bitter People in Retreat From Quang Tri

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

ON HIGHWAY 1, Vietnam (AP) — Retreat. They came out of Quang Tri City in thousands, long weary columns of men on foot, in tanks and commandeered civilian vehicles.

Quang Tri City had fallen and so had the province.

Men wept to see the battered remnants of once proud units—the elite rangers, South Vietnamese marines, tankers and the mauled 3rd Infantry Division.

Many of the men were angry and bitter. Tanks tried to run down newsmen's vehicles. Soldiers waving M16 rifles piled onto every car going southward.

Some of the fleeing troops said they were pursued by North Vietnamese amphibious tanks. Others had to fight their way through a North Vietnamese regiment as they came down the coastal strip called the Street without Joy east of Highway 1.

Capt. John Guernsey, 25, of Washington, D.C., a tank adviser, was among the last to leave the shattered province capital.

"I can't account for everybody," he said. "There are some American advisers missing. The city itself is on fire. There were some PT76 tanks in the streets when we left late yesterday afternoon.

"We stayed off the road to the east when we left. We tried to make it out through the sand dunes. We took a lot of fire coming out, I guess it was the enemy tanks, but you could say my unit came out in an orderly fashion."

Guernsey said his unit, the 11th Armored Cavalry Squadron, came out with the 20th Tank Squadron and remnants of the 1,500-man 147th Marine Brigade.

He said they were accompanied by their advisers when they left, but some advisers were missing by the time they linked up on Highway 1 about 10 miles south of Quang Tri.

Many of the retreating soldiers had thrown away their rifles. Many were wounded, their legs stained with mud from crossing rivers. No dead were aboard the vehicles, indicating they were left behind.

Brig. Gen. Thomas W. Bowen, deputy senior adviser for the 1st Military Region, brought several U.S. advisers out in his helicopter and landed them beside the highway at Camp Evans, 16 miles north of Hue.

Senate Behind Closed Doors on Secret Data

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate goes into a rare closed session today to decide whether to allow Sen. Mike Gravel to publish in the Congressional Record a classified study of the Vietnam war.

The study, coordinated by the National Security Council, was prepared for President Nixon's use shortly after he took office in 1969.

Gravel, denied unanimous Senate consent last week to place the study in the record, said he would seek to force the issue to a roll-call vote at today's closed-door session.

The study contains assessments of the Vietnam situation by the State Department, Defense Department, Central Intelligence Agency, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Gravel last year angered some of his colleagues by reading from the then-classified Pentagon papers at a midnight meeting of his Senate public works subcommittee.

The newly disclosed Vietnam war study of over 500 pages, known as National Security Study Memorandum 1, was compiled in response to 28 questions submitted to government agencies by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Gravel has declined to say how he came into possession of a copy, but excerpts from the study were published in a number of newspapers and magazines last week.

When Gravel asked unanimous consent to place excerpts, dealing with U.S. bombing operations, in the Congressional Record a week ago, Acting Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan objected.

The Senate rarely holds secret sessions, but all a senator has to do to get one is to have his motion seconded by a colleague. The last one was on June 7, 1971, to discuss U.S. operations in Laos.

Major Advance in Accord on Missiles

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev, in recent secret exchanges, have scored "a major advance" toward a U.S.-Soviet missiles-curb accord.

In announcing this late Monday, the White House implied that submarine missiles will be included in a first-stage strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) deal that also will cover antiballistic missiles (ABMs) and nuclear land-based missiles.

An agreement is expected by the time of Nixon's May 22-29 Soviet visit.

Submarine-launched nuclear missiles have been a major issue in recent SALT negotiations. Envoys at the U.S.-Soviet talks are said to have pretty much agreed on ABM and intercontinental-ballistic-missile (ICBM) limits.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, without naming any specific weapons, that the major advance from the Nixon-Brezhnev exchanges "relates to the broadening of the scope of an offensive freeze."

Nixon sent U.S. Ambassador Gerard C. Smith back to the SALT sessions at Helsinki Monday with new instructions, and the President expects the Soviet negotiator there to get new instructions too which can lead to a mutually acceptable agreement, Ziegler said.

"Over the past several weeks the President has had a number of confidential exchanges with Mr. Brezhnev concerning SALT," Ziegler told newsmen after a one-hour Nixon meeting with Smith and top diplomatic, military and intelligence advisers.

"The purpose of these exchanges was to see whether major remaining issues in these negotiations could be satisfactorily resolved," he said.

"On the basis of these confidential exchanges the President has concluded the possibilities of reaching agreement have substantially increased."

Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, who met secretly with Brezhnev in Moscow April 20-24, was said to have discussed SALT as well as Vietnam with the Soviet leader.

Asked whether the important SALT negotiations would stay on the track whatver happens in Vietnam, Ziegler said: "We have never associated the negotiations in Helsinki with what happens in Vietnam."

If the United States and the Soviet Union do reach a SALT agreement, it will be the first superpower deal to hold down their nuclear-arms race since the strategic-weapons parley began in 1969.

The initial accord is expected to include a numerical ceiling on long-range missiles, including a limit on the giant Soviet SS9 rockets which the Pentagon says could knock out U.S. Minuteman ICBMs.

A numbers limit is anticipated also for ABMs, with each side restricted to perhaps two ABM complexes apiece.

Boyle's Election Is Ruled Invalid

By VERNON A. GUIDRY Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal district judge has overturned the 1969 election of United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle for "flagrant violation" of the law and ordered a new vote.

The date and the machinery of the new election will be settled later, after all parties submit proposals. Judge William Bryant, who tossed out the election, will fix the details.

Bryant issued a 33-page opinion Monday which held that the activities of Boyle and other incumbents violated the law and may have influenced the election, the test required by federal law before a union election may be set aside.

Boyle had argued that he had done nothing wrong.

In order to find in favor of the union incumbents, Bryant wrote, "The court would be forced to swim upstream against the tide of evidence too strong to resist."

John Owens, union secretary-treasurer, and George J. Titler, vice president, the two other international officers of the union, also will face a new election. Boyle's present term was to expire in 1975.

At the end of the bitter 1969 campaign, Boyle emerged winner over an insurgent faction led by presidential candidate Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski.

Yablonski, his wife and daughter were shot to death Dec. 31, three weeks after the election.

The election case began after complaints from Yablonski forces brought an investigation by the Department of Labor. The secretary of Labor then filed the suit, challenging the election on grounds that the incumbents used union facilities and money to win re-election.

A spokesman for the union had no comment on Bryant's decision.

In Beckley, W.Va., James Leeber, President of UMW District 29, said: "I don't think the election should have been thrown out." Leeber also said "there is no question" the Justice Department is harassing Boyle.

Another district president, Leonard J. Pnakovich, head of District 31 in Leonard, W.Va., said there were some irregularities in the election, "but there are irregularities in all elections—state, city, and national."

"This is good news for all rank-and-file miners," proclaimed Yablonski's campaign manager, Mike Trbovich, in a statement. "We the miners for Democracy, are planning a steering-committee convention in Charleston, W.Va., within the next two weeks. It is possible we will come out with a slate of candidates for the new election."

Anderson Mood Reflective

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Winning the Pulitzer Prize left Jack Anderson in a reflective mood, recalling a quarter-century of mining government secrets to expose the sins of the powerful.

The sinners have castigated him, sometimes on their way to prison. Some colleagues in journalism temper praise for his enterprise with criticism of his methods.

But the public plaudits came Monday when the muckraking columnist won what he considers "the Academy Award of Journalism," the Pulitzer Prize for national reporting.

More important than the personal recognition, he said in an interview, is that the award signifies a new respectability for investigative reporting.

"I have felt we were writing Pulitzer Prize stories for some time, but we were not respectable," he said. "The fact we won a Pulitzer indicates we've become respectable.

"The young reporters want to do what we're doing," he added. "They recognize much better than their elders the role of the press as a watchdog on government."

The prize was awarded the 49-year-old journalist for exposure of secret White House documents on the Indian-Pakistani conflict last November and December.

The documents disclosed that the Nixon administration's publicly stated position of neutrality was embarrassingly at odds with what top advisers were saying in private.

The papers quoted President Nixon's national-security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, as telling a secret meeting of foreign-policy advisers that Nixon wants to tilt in favor of Pakistan."

And it was Anderson's "Washington Merry-Go-Round" column that first maintained there was a link between the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. contribution to the Republican National Convention and the settlement of antitrust action against ITT. Justice Department and ITT officials have denied a link but Senate confirmation of Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst has been held up because of a lengthy probe by the Judiciary Committee.

It was Anderson's reporting that led to the downfall of the late Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, who was censured by the Senate for allegedly converting political contributions to his personal benefit. Anderson was nominated for the Pulitzer then, but was passed over.

Boswell Raps McClellan

DEWITT, Ark. (AP) — Ted Boswell of Bryant, seeking the Democratic nomination for the seat now held by Sen. John L. McClellan, said Monday that McClellan could retire and earn $37,000 annually.

Boswell said that if the voters do not support McClellan, who is seeking re-election, they're "not exactly putting him (McClellan) out to pasture."

"He helped pass a retirement bill would would provide him $37,000 a year," Boswell said. "He has a lake lot on virtually every lake in Arkansas developed with federal funds.

"He can come back here and contribute to the state as almost a living legend," Boswell said.

Recent Bride Honored

Mrs. Thomas Foster of Dallas, a recent bride, was honored with an afternoon party at the Douglas Building with Mesdames B.B. McPherson, G.H. Beckworth, Roy Allison, Earl Downs, Helen Hatch, E.R. Brown, B.N. Holt, Martha Brashier, Carter Russell and Paul Morgan as hostesses.

Mrs. Hatch greeted the guests at the door, and Mrs. Brashier introduced them to the honoree, attired in white with an orchid at her shoulder, and the mother of the groom, Mrs. Autrey Foster, who wore pink and also had an orchid corsage.

In the reception room the table was overlaid with a white nylon cloth trimmed with lace and centered with a mixed bouquet of spring flowers. Frosted pineapple punch was served with nuts and assorted cookies by Mrs. E.R. Brown and Mrs. John Sunderland.

Miss June Ann Downs presided at the guest book where about 100 registered during the appointed hours. A gift of crystal was presented by the hostesses to the honoree.

Bridge Club Play

Mrs. R.E. Cooper had several kinds of spring flowers at her home on Friday, April 28 when she entertained her bridge club and guests, Mrs. F.R. Moses, Mrs. Taylor Stuart and Mrs. Roy Wilson.

Winners of high scoring honors at the two tables of players were one of the guests, Mrs. Moses, and a member, Mrs. Tom Kinser. The hostess served ice cream with strawberries and cookies for refreshments.

Senior Citizens Luncheon

The Senior Citizens had a luncheon meeting at the Douglas Building on April 26, and roses were used as decoration for the tables. The Rev. and Mrs. John Hoffman and daughter, Amberly, were special guests.

The Rev. Hoffman, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, brought a devotional message based on Eccl. 3:1-8. Then, he and Mrs. Hoffman played and sang several songs.

Club President Mrs. N.J. Burns had charge of the business meeting, and the secretary, Mrs. Willie Rowe, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Stella Yates read a poem, "He Leadeth Me."

The door prize was won by Mrs. Vera Gough. Mrs. Beulah Givens closed the meeting with prayer. The next meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. May 10 in the Douglas Building.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCarty and family, Tyler, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. George Harris and family, Austin, Tex., were the weekend guests of Willie Harris and visited Mrs. Willie Harris, who is a patient in a local hospital.

Discusses Israel Trip

Mrs. Paul Rawson took the Hope Rotary Club on a verbal trip to Israel at the club's luncheon meeting Friday, April 28 at the Town and Country. Introduced by Rotarian E.H. Stewart, the speaker told of interesting places she had seen in a trip to the Holy Land in January.

The land which is held sacred by the Moslems, the Jews and the Christians, is a country of contrasts—from the oldest of recorded history to the newest of modern culture. Mrs. Rawson had visited the cities of Tel Aviv, Jeruslaem and Haifa as well as the desert and the hills of the surrounding countryside. One area she described had nuberous civilizations with one building on top of the ruins of the other.

The vitality of the people in Israel today is responsible for the advancements which they have made in the last 25 years. Their spirit of unity is something that we in the United States would do well to imitate.

Dr. Sam Strong presided over the business meeting and welcomed the speaker and two other guests, Paul Rawson and Gaylord Solomon. Hoyt Hall, coach.

SANDRA JEAN HERRING

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Herring of El Dorado announce the betrothal of their daughter, Sandra Jean, to Robert Terry Huffman of Fayetteville. Mr. Huffman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Huffman of Hope.

The wedding will be an event of June 24 at First United Methodist Church in El Dorado.

In December, 1971, Miss Herring received a BSE degree from Henderson State College, Arkadelphia, where she was a member of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority. She is presently employed as a teacher of English at Parkers Chapel High School in El Dorado.

Mr. Huffman also holds a degree from Henderson State College. He is attending graduate school at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, and is a graduate assistant teaching in the Department of Botany and Bacteriology.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

Casanova and the Dumb Bunnies

Dear Helen And Sue:

This guy led two girls on for almost a year before one of them (me!) found out he was engaged to the other, while promising number one (me) his ring.

While I was away, he was true blue to "Sally" (let's call her). When Sally left town, he was at my house nearly every night. When we were both available, he juggled us neatly between different nights or different hours of the same day. Boy, were we dumb!

Well, I found out something else, too. He's a draft dodger, and says he'll leave for Canada if things get too hot for him.

Should I warm things up a little by informing Uncle Sam that he hasn't signed up? At least he'd be out two trusting girl friends if he had to suddenly leave town. —LAST LAUGH

Dear L.L.:

Revenge gets you nowhere. Tell him he can't have his cake and eat it too, then throw it in his face and wipe off the crumb. You'll do better without him, and you'll FEEL better in the long run, not turning informer. —SUE

Dear L.:

Agreed. Uncle Sam is quite capable of doing his own sleuthing. This shifty Casanova won't go undeteched long, so stay out of his life—unless you'd do him one last favor and remind him of the penalties awaiting draft dodgers. —HELEN

Dear Rap:

About the proposed legalization of pot: We are at a point today where thousands of people are dying from alchol poisoning, many thousands more face lung cancer and heart disease resulting from the cigarette habit. Our fish are loaded with mercury and our beef, poultry and vegetables are saturated with insecticides.

So far, there appears to be no evidence that marijuana is addictive and likewise there is no indication it has any nutritional value or other benefits.

BUT — the intake is through smoking and any form of smoke is harmful, from health and pollution standpoints.

It should not be a question of law. Instead, people should be made aware that pot is only another form of pollutant. If the young remain true to their "save the earth" standards, they won't jump on the legal pot bandwagon. In fact, they'll voluntarily stop adding more smoke to the overladen air. —JACK W

Good point. Sadly enough, however, "polluters" (in this istance, smokers) hardly ever think of themselves as the culprits. It's always that other belching smokestack over there! —HELEN AND SUE

Dear Rap:

One last word about co-ed dorms. I'm sorry our college-daughter moved out of one! In her junior year she and three other girls took an off-campus apartment. She had a rough time breaking her part of the lease when boys overran the place, and she was consigned to the sofa when her roommate took in a male mate. Studying was out—partying (and clean-up detail later) was in. So she moved to another co-op arrangement which turned out just as badly.

All of these young people were basically good and decent, but they were out on their own and, regardless of the wholesome childhood they had had, some wanted sex and others preferred to wait. I'm sure it's the same in co-ed dorms, but at least there, those who choose "waiting" can do so undisturbed.

Our kid wishes she'd stayed put in the dorm. And that's the truth. —A MOTHER

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A successful art director who moved up to producer without losing his interest in new techniques, Robert Markell, is still experimenting—in a pilot program coming up tonight on NBC.

The audience probably will not be aware he is fiddling around with unusual forms, but Markell hopes the hour will be another step toward more efficient ways of producing better performances and more effective photography.

The program is "The Dark Side," a thriller shot entirely on location in New York. The program is unusual because it was shot entirely on tape. Then Markell transferred the product to film for editing and returned it to tape for broadcast.

Markell made the entire show in seven days in locations ranging from the Bowery to the Bronx's Woodlawn Cemetery.

"Tape is great for ball games and news," the producer said, "so why not a dramatic show? By using tape, we can play it back immediately and know if we need a retake of a scene. All this gives the actor more rehearsal time. It generally works out so that the entire show goes more smoothly. With film, which must be developed, things must be set up more rigidly in advance and there is so much less leeway."

Markell, who has four Emmys, three of them for programs in "The Defenders" series, sees no reason that this tape-film combination should not work as well in Hollywood as it does in New York. It has, he insists, the combined advantages of greater economy and flexibility.

The game show packaging firm of Goodson-Todman, an institution through the 1950s and 1960s with shows spread through all three networks, went through some lean days after the death of such long-playing programs as "What's My Line?" and "I've Got a Secret."

It is happy and healthy again with most of their old shows back in business being bought, for the most part, by independent stations.

"What's My Line?" with only Arlene Francis from the original panel of regulars remaining, resumed as a syndicated series four years ago. "To Tell the Truth" returned three years ago with Garry Moore as host making a TV comeback. Gradually, many of the other old favorites began second lives. "Password," with Allen Ludden, was acquired by ABC. "Beat the Clock," returned with Jack Narz succeeding the late Bud Collyer as host.

Steve Allen will soon step into Garry Moore's old spot when "I've Got a Secret" comes back. And Dennis James has been hired for a revival of "The Price is Right."

MADELINE WOOTTEN, CALLIE WOOTTEN, AND JOE WILSON

Mrs. Callie Wootten of Washington, D.C. has returned to Arkansas for her first visit after 53 years. She is visiting her brother, Joe Wilson, and other relatives in Hope. Mrs. Wootten is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thornton, with whom Mr. Wilson makes his home. Mr. Thornton is their nephew.

Mrs. Wootten and her daughter, Madeline Wootten, a career government employee, plan to visit Caddo Gap, Mena, Hot Springs, and Little Rock during the next ten days prior to their return to Washington.

The Woottens lived in Mena before moving to Ohio. They have lived in Washington, D.C. since 1948.

Heir Report Mistake

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Democrat reported Sunday in a copyrighted article that 1970 news reports that a Prattsville man was heir to $20.6 million apparently were erroneous.

Jack Buras, minister of music at Harmony Missionary Baptist Church in Prattsville, and two brothers and a sister were to share an oil royalty settlement of $82.7 million, the articles said.

But the Democrat, in a story by Martin Kirby, said the only known court cast involving people named Buras and a sizable sum of money in an oil royalty settlement apparently did not involve Jack Buras.

The action involved a number of others named Buras. It was initiated in 1954 on the claim by the Buras that their ancestor held title to thousands of acres of swamp land bought in the 1930s by the U. S. government, which leased oil rights to Chevron Oil Co., a division of Standard Oil of California.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans reversed a lower court verdict in that case last March 23, the Democrat said.

The article quoted lawyers in the case as saying they knew of neither Jack Buras nor his later father Harold, who lived at Poplarville, Miss., and died Nov. 21 1970, in Biloxi, Miss.

The lawyers also said the Chevron case involved less than $82 million.

The 1970 articles said a U.S. Supreme Court ruling had cleared the way for Buras and his relatives to split $82.7 million Shell Oil Co. had placed in an escrow account.

No record of such a case could be found with the Supreme Court, nor did Shell have record of such a case, the Democrat said.

The newspaper quoted Buras as sayin:

"If what you have found out is true, Lord knows, I want to know it, and not spend the rest of my life waiting for a boat to come in that never sailed."

He said nothing fraudulent was done by him in connection with the 1970 new accounts. If the new information is true, he added:

"There has got to be something I can do as far as my involvement in this thing. I'm not as set back about the possibility of not getting the money as I am if this thing costs me my ministry and my effectiveness as a Christian workers."

Collision Kills Three Persons

GRADY, Ark. (AP) — State Police said three persons lost their lives on rain-slick Arkansas 65, two miles south of Grady Monday.

State Police identified the victims as John O. Knight, 17, Fred Lack, 65, and Vadie Lack, 57, all of near Gould.

Police said the accident occurred when Knight lost control of his car and slid headon into the Lack car.

Blue Is Slated to Sign for $63,000

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Vida Blue, the Oakland A's sensational young southpaw, was set to end his holdout and sign a 1972 contract today as probably the highest paid major league sophomore in history.

"I'm ready to play," the 22-year-old pitcher said late Monday night after arriving in Boston on a non-stop flight from San Francisco and then going into seclusion.

Blue was met at Logan International Airport by Joe Reichler, assistant to baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn. He was polite, but not very communicative with the lone sports writer to meet him.

He looked fit, but merely shrugged and occasionally smiled when asked questions, such as how long did he think it would take before he's ready to pitch.

"I've been working out on my own," the 1971 American League's most valuable player and Cy Young Award winner said. "I don't have any plans. I've been on a plane and haven't talked to anyone. All I want now is a good night's sleep."

Blue, who had been holding out for $92,000, agreed to accept a total package of $63,000 to sign with the Athletics. All that's needed now is his signature on a contract. That business had to come first today before he left a motel and moved in with his teammates at a Back Bay hotel, a short distance from Fenway Park where the A's meet the Boston Red Sox tonight.

Kuhn and A's owner Charlie Finley also were due in town for the official signing of one of baseball's top gate attractions.

"I wouldn't miss it," Finley said in Chicago, adding he was "extremely pleased" that Blue was ready to sign.

Finley said the contract terms will be the same worked out last week in a meeting with Blue. The club owner added, "The contract will read $50,000 and on the side will be $13,000 in cash."

In his first full season in the league in 1971, Blue earned $14,750 while compiling a 24-8 record and packing in fans wherever he pitched.

Blue and his attorney, Robert J. Gerst of Los Angeles, have conducted marathon negotiations with Finley. An apparent agreement fell through last Friday when Blue refused to sign a joint announcement of the contract's details.

Kuhn stepped in the next day. As commissioner, he used what he called his general powers to act "in the best interests of baseball" and ordered Finley to keep open his offer to Blue.

Wynn Going Great for Astros

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Astros traded for a big gun during the off-season after their Toy Cannon lost some firepower.

Getting Lee May has really helped. It's made a better hitter out of little Jimmy Wynn.

The 5-9, 170-pound outfielder is more than pulling his weight with five home runs this season, including a grand slam blast that helped the Astros beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-8 Monday night.

"I'm smiling now," said Wynn after a big night that also included a double and single and two runs scored.

He should be happier than last season, when he hit only seven home runs all year and plunged to a career-low .205 batting average while sitting in Manager Harry Walker's dog house.

Now batting in front of the power-hitting May, who had 39 homers last season for Cincinnati, Wynn is hitting at a .379 clip with 16 RBI and 15 runs scored.

In the only other games Monday, the New York Mets turned back the San Francisco Giants 7-4 and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 in National action.

The Astros' victory moved them into a tie with Los Angeles for first place in the National League's West race and shoved the defending World Champion Pirates 4½ games off the pace in the East.

Right-hander Tom Seaver struck out 12 batters in 6 and 2-3 innings and got relief help from Tug McGraw to post his fourth victory without a loss this season.

Leading 4-3, the Mets broke open the game with three runs in the seventh on singles by Bud Harrelson, Tommie Agee, Rusty Staub, Cleon Jones and Jim Fregosi.

Despite Seaver's high strikeout total, he was pulled after giving up home runs to Dave Rader, Chris Speier and Ken Henderson. Little Bud Harrelson, one of the most unlikely long ball hitters in the New York lineup, also drove one out.

Dick Selma, a former relief pitcher, spun a three-hitter and Willie Montanez hit a two-run homer for Philadelphia.

Selma and Claude Osteen of Los Angeles were locked in a scoreless pitching duel until the Dodger southpaw walked Terry Harmon with two out in the eighth and threw a gopher ball to Montanez. Selma squeezed out of an eighth-inning jam after Willie Crawford knocked in Los Angeles' lone run with a sacrifice fly.

2nd Stanley Cup Game

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins now to play 60 minutes of hockey and the New York Rangers hope to continue their newly found scoring power tonight in the second game of the Stanley Cup championship showdown.

"We had an awful letdown and were lucky to pull it out," Boston Coach Tom Johnson said after the Bruins' 6-5 victory in the opener of the best-of-7 series.

"We'll start Eddie Johnston in goal and, hopefully, we'll play 60 minutes of hockey in front of him," Johnson added.

The Rangers, who scored only four goals in losing five times in a row to Boston during the National Hockey League's regular season, took a 1-0 lead Sunday, but the Bruins stormed back and built what appeared an overwhelming 5-1 advantage.

New York cut the deficit with a second-period goal, and then connected three more times to tie the count 5-5 midway through the finale, Ace Bailey's goal with just over two minutes to play lifted Boston to victory.

"After a good start, we let down," Johnson said, "we stopped forechecking, stopped hitting and let them come to us, we can't afford that again. We've got to play our game every minute."

Despite the loss, the Rangers were encouraged by the fantastic comeback.

"Coming from behind that way should help us," Ranger Coach Emile Francis said. "We get in a hole like that again, the guys know they have the ability to climb out of it."

Celtics to Stay in Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The new owners of the Boston Celtics are residents of the West Coast, but they insist the National Basketball Association club will remain in Boston.

"I don't know how that got started," Irving H. Levin said Monday in spiking a report that the Celtics were moving to San Diego.

Levin, president of National General Corporation, a Los Angeles film booking firm, said he and Harold A. Lipton, general counsel of the corporation, bought the Celtics because they "love the sport."

"This deal has no relationship with National General," Levin said. "Mr. Lipton and I are in this on our own."

Levin said he and Lipton met with Red Auerbach, the Celtics' president and general manager, in California last week, and "Red told us that his and the Celtics' basketball home is in Boston and we agreed wholeheartedly."

"We told Red of our love for basketball and how great an opportunity we had in becoming owners of the Celtics because, he, who in our opinion is Mr. Basketball, is the general manager," Levin said.

"We also told Red we would bring stability to the ownership of the Celtics, thus enabling him to do what he has done so well in the past, namely build a champion," he added.

Ownership of the Celtics has changed several times since the death of Walter Brown, then president of Boston Garden, about 10 years ago.

Vote of Confidence

NEW YORK (AP) — The management of the financially troubled Memphis Pros received a vote of confidence Monday when the American Basketball Association's Board of Trustees voted unanimously to turn down an offer by Florida millionaire Joseph Gregory to buy the franchise.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph explained after the five-hour meeting that Gregory's offer had been rejected "because of our confidence in the current management of the Pros and in Memphis as a major league city."

He said that the league "made financial arrangements to allow the franchise to continue operations until the annual June 13 trustees' meeting." At that time, the Pros' management will be expected "to come up with a solution more advantageous to the league and Memphis and we fully expect that solution to be found," Dolph added.

Gregory, a resident of Fort Lauderdale and former owner of the Kentucky Colonels of the ABA, made his offer to buy the Memphis franchise on Saturday. Prospective sale price and other details were not disclosed.

Rodriguez Wins Sudden Death

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Chi Chi Rodriguez had a dream and, corny as it may seem, captured a sudden-death playoff from Billy Casper and lived happily ever after.

A story a fiction writer wouldn't touch turned into real life drama Monday as the downtrodden Rodriguez, who hadn't won a tournament in four years, dreamed he would beat Casper in a sudden-death playoff for the $25,000 first prize in the Byron Nelson Golf classic and did it.

"I can't believe I dreamed the whole thing," said Rodriguez, the former clown prince of the PGA tour, who has turned serious so he can concentrate.

The 36-year-old Rodriguez rammed home a five-foot putt on the 15th hole for a birdie to beat Casper, who has been in a slump for a year but showed signs of being the portly parbuster of old. Both finished with seven-under-par 273 over the long Preston Trail Golf Club course.

"I dreamed last night that I would have a playoff with Billy today," Rodriguez said. "I told him that before we started today, too."

Casper confirmed that Rodriguez told him about the dream but added: "He said he dreamed he knocked it stiff on the 13th hole and made birdie. But he was confused. The 13th is a par three. He meant he knocked his stiff on the 15th."

Rodriguez chimed in "I hit a nine-iron on the 15th but in the dream it was an 8-iron. For me, it was a dream come true."

Casper won $14,300.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, the winner of the last two Nelson Classics, was 11 shots back at 284. Arnold Palmer finished at 276 after three-putting twice on the closing holes trying to make a patented birdie charge.

Wilf Homeniuk of Canada, Bruce Crampton, and Charles Coody tied for third place at 275 and won $6,608 each.

Texas League Results

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louis Penalver is becoming the No. 1 fireman in the Texas League and his development is putting Amarillo hot on El Paso's heels for the leadership in the Western Division.

Penalver registered his third save in four days Monday night as Amarillo edged El Paso 4-3 to move within a half-game of the Sun Kings in the TL West.

In other action, San Antonio bombed Midland 10-6, Alexandria shaved Eastern Division leading Memphis 6-2, and the Arkansas at Shreveport game was postponed because of rain.

The 31-year-old Penalver struck out a batter with the tying run on base in the eighth and set down the side in order in the ninth for Amarillo. Steve Ortiveros singled home two runs in the third and Augusto Austin doubled across two runs in the sixth for the winners.

Dennis Parks hit a two-run homer for San Antonio, the seventh Brewer homer in the last three games against Midland. San Antonio is only one and one-half games behind El Paso.

Cliff Butcher was credited with the victory as Alexandria moved within one game of Memphis, tying idle Arkansas for the second spot.

The same teams play again tonight in Alexandria, Midland, Amarillo and a doubleheader at Shreveport.

No Le Hace Ready

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — No Le Hace is ready for Saturday's 98th running of the Kentucky Derby and the size of the field or the condition of the track makes no difference, says trainer Homer Pardue.

Told there could be 20 or more 3-year-olds in the Derby, the veteran horseman pointed out Monday that No Le Hace beat 16 rivals in the Arkansas Derby.

Asked if he worried about an off-track, he noted that his charge won the Lousiaian Derby in the slop and added:

"We can race uphill if they want us to—or they can cover the track with asphalt."

Perhaps influenced by the Spanish meaning of the name No le Hace—it doesn't matter—Pardue also said the son of Candy Spots' placing in today's one-mile Derby Trial doesn't matter.

"He doesn't have to prove anything," said Parude, I just want him to get a little tired and not get hurt."

Also among the 14 Derby hopefuls entered for the Derby Trial, set for 5:30 p.m., EDT, were Paul Mellons' Key to the Mint and Head of the River.

While the early favoritism for the 1¼-mile, $125,000-added Derby rested with Mrs. John Tweedy's Riva Ridge and Mrs. Maribel Blum's Hold your Peace, No Le Hace has the credentials to be considered a top contender.

No Le-Hace has won seven of his last nine starts, five in a row and all four races as 3-year-old.

Ali Wins But Foe Thinks Frazier Will Win Again

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — After battling Muhammad Ali the full distance for the second time, Canadian George Chuvalo predicted heavyweight king Joe Frazier will beat the ex-champion again.

The speedy Ali punched out a unanimous decision victory Monday night at the Pacific Coliseum over the 12-round route but couldn't achieve his goal of putting the tough Toronto fighter down.

Following the bout, somewhat similar to their meeting in 1966 when Ali won in 15, he was asked when he'd fight Frazier.

"I don't think he is quite ready for a rematch," Ali answered. "I'm going to be in even better shape when I fight Frazier than I was for Chuvalo.

"And if I had been in this good shape for Frazier the first time, I would have laid him out."

Joe won the title fight, March 8, 1971, by decision.

Against Chuvalo, Ali danced and jabbed and put over some solid hooks and right hand shots.

Still, the 34-year-old Canadian declared, "I never was wobbly."

Ali, now from Cherry Hill, N.J., weighed 217½ while Chuvalo came in at 221. For Ali, the weight showed the result of hard training since his April 1 bout when he weighed 226 before beating Mac Foster in Tokyo.

"A lot of people say that Chuvalo is washed up, but that's a lie," Ali declared in the post fight interview. "Anyone who can take my best shots is going to be around for a long, long time."

Chuvalo's best rounds were the fifth and ninth. In the sixth, when Ali came out fast, the Canadian suffered a one-inch gash on his forehead just over the right eye. The cut bled much of the rest of the fight but didn't appear to bother George.

A crowd estimated at 8,800 watched in person with closed circuit television and some home television beamed internationally. The gate was expected to approach $200,000, the amount guaranteed Ali. Chuvalo gets $65,000.

After this rematch, George declared, "Ali was in better shape than I thought he would be in, better shape than in our last fight."

Pressed for his choice between Ali and Frazier, he replied, "I've got to go with Joe."

Frazier stopped Chuvalo on facial injuries in the fourth round when they met, but George never had been knocked down in a career dating to 1956.

Under the 5-point-must system, refree Dave Down scored the bout 59-51. Judge Tom Keys saw it 58-51 and judge Tommy Paenessa, 60-46. The Associated Press had 58-52 for Ali.

Brazilian in a Tie

MADRID (AP) — Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil roared into a tie for the lead in the world drivers' championship by winning the Spanish Grand Prix for Formula I cars Monday.

Fittipaldi moved his JPS to the front on the 10th lap of the 90-lap race and led the rest of the way. He covered the 190.5 miles over the 2.11-mile Jarama Circuit at an average speed of 92.2 miles per hour.

Fittipaldi and New Zealander Denis Hulme are now tied for the lead in the championship standings with 15 points each.

Jacky Ickx of Belgium, who started his Ferrari in the pole position finished second in the Spanish Grand Prix, about a half-mile back of Fittipaldi. Clay Regazzoni of Switzerland, also in a Ferrari, was third, while Andrea de Adamich of Italy finished fourth in a Surtees and New York's Peter Revson was fifth in a McLaren Ford.

Only 10 of the 25 cars which started the race made it to the finish line.

Down to One Game for the ABA Title

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — "Now it comes down to one game," declared Virginia Coach Al Bianchi, trying to put Monday night's 146-136 New York Nets victory over the Squires out of his mind and looking ahead to Thursday night's finale at Norfolk, Va. The best-of-7 American Basketball Association Eastern Division championship playoff series is now tied at 3-3.

"It will be our home court and we'll have the home crowd in favor of us," declared Bianchi, who might have added that the Nets have not won a playoff game in Virginia in six tries spanning two years.

But the Nets will go into the finale coming off their most explosive performance of the playoffs.

Rick Barry poured in 43 points, John Roche added 37 and Billy Paultz hit a career-high 33 to pace New York's explosive offense. Barry hit 17 of 23 field goal attempts, Roche 12 of 19—including three of five three-point tries—and Paultz 13 of 15.

As a team, the Nets hit a torrid .611 percentage, sinking 55 of 90 field goal attempts.

Barry put it in simple terms. "We beat them at their own game—running," he declared. "We worked the ball well and took good shots. We just outplayed them."

For the Squires rookie Julius Erving had 34 points and Bernie Williams had 33. But Ray Scott, the reserve center who sparked Virginia's fifth-game victory with 26 points, was limited to six.

A key to the game, however, was under the boards. New York outrebounded Virginia 48-39, the first time in the series that the Nets have beaten the Squires off the boards. Paultz grabbed 14 rebounds for the Nets while Erving, who hauled in 32 Saturday, was limited to 10.

Indiana won the ABA Western Division championship series by beating Utah 117-113 at the Salt Palace. Roger Brown had 27 points, Freddie Lewis 23 and Mel Daniels 19 for the Pacers, while Zelmo Beaty scored 25 and Jimmie Jones 23 for Utah, the defending ABA champions.

The National Basketball Association's championship playoff series will resume Wednesday night in New York.

Australia Team Wins Victory

TOKYO (AP) — Singles victories by Mal Anderson and Colin Dibley gave Australia full revenge and a 4-1 victory over Japan today in the Eastern Zone Section A Davis Cup tennis finals.

Anderson clinched the victory by disposing of Japan's Jun Kuki 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. Then Dibley beat Toshiro Sakai 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, avenging his defeat to Sakai last year when Japan beat Australia for the first time in 50 years in Davis Cup tennis.

The Australians, who won all four singles and lost only one doubles match against Japan, now go to India to meet the Indian team for the Eastern Zone championship in about two weeks.

Memphis Board Asks Busing Order Stay

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Contending that the Memphis school district shouldn't have to spend large sums on buses before the final legal decision is made, the school board has asked a federal judge to stay his own order calling for busing in city schools.

The board's lawyers filed a motion Monday asking U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. McRae Jr., to postpone his recent order for implementation of a desegregation plan that would bus nearly 14,000 students starting in September.

In addition to requesting the stay, the lawyers filed notice that they plan to appeal McRae's decision to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Ohio.

School board lawyer Ernest G. Kelly pointed out that the order would require a prompt program to obtain the buses.

"The defendants are faced with the prospect of taking costly, irrevocable stops toward the implementation of plan A prior to the disposition of their appeal," Kelly said.

The motion argued that the cause is similar to one in Norfolk, Va., where the Court of Appeals granted a stay in April pending a U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

Meanwhile, busing came to the forefront in other areas of the city.

Citizens Against Busing, which kept more than 55,000 children out of classes in a boycott Thursday and Friday, was working on a voter drive.

School attendance returned about to normal Monday as the CAB continued plans for a Tuesday night rally at the Mid-South Fairgrounds.

The rally is to encourage people to vote in Thursday's primary, where a question of busing will be on the ballot.

The Chamber of Commerce issued a statement Monday encouraging all city residents to go to the polls and express their feelings on busing. The acton came in a statement from the chamber saying it had completed a frank and open discussion of busing with CAB leaders.

The chamber and CAB have been at odds with each other after chamber officials were publicly critical of the school boycott, and CAB members picketed the chamber offices.

On another front school, Supt. John Freeman urged the City Council to think carefully before passing any antibusing legislation.

Freeman, speaking at a hearing on the proposed school budget, pointed out that the school board will have to comply with court rulings and that contrary council action could put local officials on a treadmill without providing any solutions to current problems.

Police Files Are Ordered Reopened

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Investigative files in the case of nine peace officers charged in the death of a youth last year have been ordered opened to defense lawyers.

The order came Monday from Criminal Court Judge W. Otis Higgs Jr., who also refused a request for a change of venue and ordered that all nine defendants be tried at the same time.

"The American adversary system of justice is not based on trial by combat, trial by mystery, trial by darkness and surprise," said Higgs in issuing his ruling.

The officers were indicted after the death Oct. 15 of Elton Hayes, 17, a Negro, at the end of a high-speed chase by police.

Early police reports said Hayes died of injuries suffered when the pickup truck carrying him overturned. After an autopsy, however, Dist. Atty. Phil M. Canale ruled it was a case of homicide.

A Shelby County grand jury later indicted a Memphis policeman and three county sheriff's deputies on charges of murder, four Memphis policemen on charges of assault with intent to murder and one Memphis police inspector on charges of neglect of duty.

Higgs' order will give defense lawyers access to about every important record compiled by the prosecution, including names and addresses of witnesses, any reports, or studies by experts, and books or other materials compiled for the case.

The district attorney's office had argued that the reports were work products and should not be turned over to the defense.

The trial is scheduled to begin May 22.

Higgs said that he was ordering the disclosure of evidence to encourage a speedy trial, to minimize the need for protacted defense investigation and to promote a fair determination of the charges.

In ordering that all the officers be tried together, Higgs said he was concerned that a jury might apply evidence against one man to others also. However, he said, he would not hesitate to grant a new trial to any defendant should one be needed.

One of the officers charged with murder is a Negro. The others are white.

Moves to Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Johnny Carson and the "Tonight" show have been welcomed to their new home on the West Coast with ceremonies in the chambers of the Los Angeles City Council.

The NBC program moved from New York to Hollywood with the Monday night show.

The city council passed a resolution welcoming Carson and the cast and staff of the "Tonight" show and declared Monday as "Johnny Carson Day."

Carson has been host of the program since 1962 and before that was host of several television shows originating here.

Second Choice Vote is the One That Really Matters

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Another polltaker rang the doorbell again last weekend.

Some people are on the lists for pornographic mail or invitations to all-expense-paid trips to Mexico to look at parking lots. I get all the polltakers.

"Hi, are you watching television?"

"Yeah."

"Who are you watching?"

"Kareem Abdul Jabbar."

"What primaries is he entered in?"

"He's not in a primary. He plays professional basketball for the Milwaukee Bucks."

"I see. Well, I'm conducting a private poll on the presidential candidates and the primaries."

"But the Illinois primary was over a month ago."

"Yes, I know. But our client is very interested in learning who you would have voted for if you hadn't voted for the man you did vote for."

"Why?"

"Well, sir, you see since there are so many clients, excuse me, so many candidates, and so many primaries, it's very likely that some candidates will drop out of the race and that would strengthen our client's position, especially if he could secretly reveal the results of a private poll showing that he would have won various primaries that he lost.

"Oh."

"So, would you mind telling me who you would have voted for if you didn't vote for the man you voted for."

"Don't you want to know who I voted for?"

"It's inmmaterial. It only matters who your second choice would be. Sometimes it's better to lose in New England, the South, the Midwest and the Far West as long as you can say you were the next choice. That shows broad appeal."

"What's the difference why you lost so long as you lost?"

"I think it's like sports. It's nice for managers and coaches to say they lost because of the layoff or because of the tight schedule, you know."

"Yeah, but the fans don't believe that."

"What do they believe?"

"They believe if you lost it's because you weren't good enough."

"I'm sorry, sir. My client could never accept that as a poll result. Thanks anyway. See you after the California primary."

"You'll still be taking primary polls after the last primary?"

"Oh, sure. At least several candidates already have asked for samplings showing that most people don't believe in primary results anyway."

Front Brings in Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cold front that brought heavy rain to the state Monday stalled early today across Central Arkansas causing showers and thundershowers to continue in the southern and eastern portions of the state.

The National Weather Service said the showers and thundershowers would continue in the southern half of the state with the front remaining in about the same position until tonight. The remainder of the state was expected to have cloudy to partly cloudy skies today and tonight.

All sections of the state received rain Monday, and in some areas the 24-hour rainfall exceeded the total for the entire month of April.

The Weather Service said the northern and southwestern portions of the state received the heaviest amounts of rain with Botkinburg in Van Buren County receiving the heaviest reported rain with more than four inches recorded.

Temperatures were held down considerably Monday except in the southern border areas where readings reached the upper 70s and low 80s before the rains reached the area. Afternoon highs were mostly in the upper 60s to low 70s.

Overnight lows included 45 at Fayetteville, 56 at Harrison, 59 at Jonesboro, 59 at Pine Bluff, 61 at Texarkana, 60 at El Dorado, 58 at Memphis, 58 at Little Rock and 51 at Fort Smith.

Precipitation reported during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included .31 of an inch at Fayetteville, .50 at Harrison, .99 at Jonesboro, .92 at Pine Bluff, .46 at Texarkana, 1.09 at El Dorado, .55 at Memphis, 1.65 at Little Rock and 1.51 at Fort Smith.

WASHINGTON (AP) — They came by the busful, these angry homeowners from the nation's major inner cities.

Their complaint was about the Federal Housing Administration and the decrepit, FHA-certified and -insured houses sold through the government's scandal-ridden inner-city home ownership program.

Their official voice was the National People's Caucus, an infant amalgam of 368 grassroots organizations representing white ethnics, blacks and Spanish-speaking Americans.

The whites' concern was the blockbusting, deterioration and abandonment that struck their neighborhoods because of the home ownership programs. The minorities were angry about the shoddy housing foisted on them.

It all spilled forth in a hearing room of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee. The panel was opening a probe of the financial machinations responsible for scandals in New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis—scandals the government estimates will bring 240,000 housing abandonments nationwide in the next few years at a cost to the FHA of $2.4 billion.

Carmel McCrudden of Philadelphia told the subcommittee about the $9,000 FHA-certified house she bought from a real-estate agent:

"He took my husband to see the house on one occasion. There were people living in it at the time. Since the furniture was in place and carpeting on the floor, we did not notice any defects ....

"The only thing we noticed was we had sand walls and a dirt floor in the basement. The real-estate agent told us not to worry because the owners would be made to make repairs in the basement in order to receive FHA approval.

"I believed him. He called us up and told us the basement had been taken care of and that certifications had been issued on the plumbing, roofing, electricity and woodwork.

"We made settlement and came directly to the house .... The basement had not been cemented and plastered. The real-estate man was notified, but he said there was nothing he could do.

"I approached FHA and the mortgage company. Each said it was now my responsibility, even though FHA had 'approved' the house. No sooner had we moved in than the department of licenses and inspections came to our house and listed the existing building-code violations.

Effort to Cut USIA Funds Fails

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency has survived a Senate committee's effort to cut spending for propaganda films, broadcasting and pamphlets by 25 per cent.

The 57-15 vote Monday to restore the money to the USIA budget ended lengthy debate on the propriety of the agency's propaganda role.

As that fight ended, the stage was set for another long debate on whether Congress should cut off funds for the Indochina war.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., offered an amendment late Monday to kill a provision denying money for U.S. military operations in Indochina after Dec. 31.

By restoring $45 million to the USIA authorization bill, the Senate overturned cuts made by the Foreign Relations Committee and pushed the spending ceiling up to $200 million for the three propaganda activities.

"As our opposition steps up its efforts to influence the world, the need for an effective information program on our part is infinitely greater," said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

That was the essence of the speeches of several senators in favor of the amendment offered by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., to restore the money.

Opponents argued that the cut was a test of principle because President Nixon had ordered the USIA, on grounds of executive privilege, to withhold planning documents from the committee.

"The decision to withhold the information lays the groundwork for a dangerous precedent," said Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

Demonstrators File Suit Against U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union has filed suit accusing top federal law enforcers of trampling on the constitutional rights of thousands arrested during May-day antiwar demonstrations in Washington last year.

Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, District of Columbia Mayor Walter E. Washington, Police Chief Jerry Wilson and 10 other Justice Department and police officials were named defendants.

The ACLU filed the civil complaint in U.S. District Court Monday.

The suit asks the court for a declaration of constitutional rights, an injunction against "any future official lawlessness of this kind" and for compensatory damages "that will undoubtedly reach into the millions of dollars."

Special ACLU counsel Monroe H. Freedman said the suit accuses the district police, U.S. Park Service police and National Guard with violating constitutional rights of some 7,000 people who were arrested after demonstration leaders had threatened to block traffic.

"The vast majority," Freedman said, "had committed no offense whatsoever." But police "herded them into detention camps and prison facilities."

The suit accuses officials of, among other things, making indiscriminate arrests, using unnecessary force, detaining prisoners in overcrowded and unsanitary facilities, falsifying arrest forms and forcing prisoners to plead guilty.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald & James Jacoby

A letter from Baton Rouge reads in part, "How should we have reached the easy no-trump game? I think my partner should have raised my no-trump bid. After all I did make two bids with my hand after he opened. He thinks my second bid of one no-trump did not show anything like my full values. Incidentally, I had no trouble making ten tricks."

The letter brings up a couple of popular misconceptions about bidding. The first is that your second bid does not necessarily show extra values. In this case South's one diamond response showed at least six or seven points. His second bid of one no-trump confirmed these six or seven and at the same time showed a maximum of ten and a no-trump type hand. Thus, North had no reason to bid over one no-trump. Ten plus 14 equals just 24.

	NORTH (D) 2
	♠ A Q 9 6 ♥ Q 8 5 ♦ J 3 ♣ K Q 8 7
WEST		EAST
♠ J 8 3 ♥ A J 6 4 2 ♦ 9 5 ♣ J 6 2		♠ 10 7 5 4 ♥ 9 7 ♦ A 8 7 2 ♣ A 9 5
	SOUTH ♠ K 2 ♥ K 10 3 ♦ K Q 10 6 4 ♣ 10 4 3

None vulnerable

West	North	East	South
	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	1 N.T.
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♥ 4

South's correct rebid was two no-trump. This second round jump to two no-trump is not an absolute force and shows just what South held —11 or 12 points and a no-trump hand.

It is a strong invitation to a further bid and North should accept with his nice 14. That plus 11 only equals 25, but it is silly to stop one trick short of game when you are that close to it and 25 points divided almost evenly between two hands is very apt to produce at least nine tricks.

♥+CARD Sense♠♦

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦
1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass	?

You, South hold ♠ A 6 5 4 ♥ K 6 3 2 ♦ Q 10 7 ♣ 5 4

What do you do now?

A—Bid two spades. You have a good single raise in spite of the fact that your king of hearts appears to be worth very little.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to three spades. What do you do now?

Explaining Sickle-Cell Anemia

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am a black male, 24 years of age. My concern is about information about sickle-cell anemia. Is it found predominantly in the black race? Also, what are its symptoms and is it inherited?

Dear Reader—Yes, sickle-cell anemia is a disease predominantly of Africans and people of African descent, and can be inherited. The difficulty is in the iron hemoglobin chemical in the red blood cells which carry oxygen. Complex chemical compounds such as hemoglobin have a structure or form. In sickle-cell anemia, a minor variation in this chemical compound causes it to change its form and distorts the shape of the blood cell to a sickle shape, hence the name sickle-cell anemia.

The deformed red blood cell is not able to pass through the tiny blood vessels in the body. When many of these deformed cells stick in the blood vessels in an area, they interfere with normal circulation in that region and may cause tissue death. This often occurs in the spleen, causing severe pain, but it can also occur in the kidney or other areas of the body.

The change in the shape of the hemoglobin can be caused by a decrease in oxygen or certain illnesses. If many cells change shape, their ability to carry oxygen is affected. This and loss of blood cells results in anemia. Individuals who have sickle-cell anemia or a significant tendency toward this problem have to avoid excessive exposure to altitude.

There are reports of blacks with this problem who have had difficulty at less than 5,000 feet. These have been individuals doing heavy physical activity. Obviously, this problem has to be considered in anyone involved in aviation or in individuals traveling to mountainous regions.

About one in 500 American blacks has this problem and about 8 per cent of all American blacks have the trait; that is, they can pass on the tendency to their children even though the parent may not have any difficulty. Obviously, when two apparently normal individuals who have the trait marry, their offspring may then have sickle-cell anemia. The presence of sickle-cell anemia and the trait which can be transmitted to children can be detected with special blood tests that have been developed in recent years. While the trait isn't much of a problem, having the full-blown disease is a serious disorder and often leads to a short life-span.

I am happy to say that new research suggests that there are medicines which can be taken to avoid the acute episodes by preventing the change in form of the hemoglobin in the red blood cells. There is still work to be done on this and it is still in a study phase by a team of investigators.

Of course, if a black desired, it would be wise to have genetic counseling before marriage to be certain that the two marriage partners didn't both have the trait and thus transmit serious problems to their children. Ideally, to prevent this problem, individuals with the trait should marry someone who does not have the trait.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

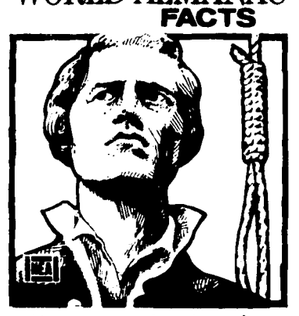
WORLD ALMANAC FACTS



During the American Revolution Nathan Hale, a young schoolteacher, was hanged by the British as a spy without a trial. The World Almanac recalls that it is alleged that when Hale's jailer scornfully demanded some last words, he is reputed to have exclaimed: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

18 Arrested in Demonstration

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A mass demonstration by construction workers Monday exploded into vandalism at scattered sites across Memphis and clashes with police in which 18 persons were arrested.

An estimated 3,000 workers had gathered for the demonstration, which they said was to protest against the president of the Associated General Contractors.

William Watts, who holds the post, is a partner in W&W Construction, a non-union firm.

The protesters formed a motorcade and went to the AGC offices, but many stayed in autos or went home because of a steady drizzle.

Police estimated 800 to 1,000 workers were at the AGC offices shouting and marching when some of them began throwing firecrackers and eggs.

Union leaders and police tried to calm the demonstrators, but a piece of concrete was thrown through a window and police ordered the demonstration ended. No arrests were made there.

After the group broke up, however, officers said, things began to happen.

Police gave this account:

Small bands of men struck at construction sites and ran. A guard at one site was beaten and his piston taken. Incidents were reported at five projects and the W&W offices.

Then 500 to 700 workers showed up at the W&W offices, damaged a car and smashed windows. Four were arrested, but two fled when friends used a bolt cutter to snip their handcuffs.

Windows were smashed out of a trailer at a construction site outside the city, and sheriff's deputies were called in to drive off the vandals.

A motorcade of workers then appeared at some apartments under construction and began throwing rocks and bottles. Officers with drawn pistols chased about 20 workers from inside the unfinished apartments. Several arrests were made, and a pickup truck was overturned.

As police sorted out details of the day, they reported 16 persons were being held on charges of participating in a riot, and one of those also was charged with carrying a pistol.

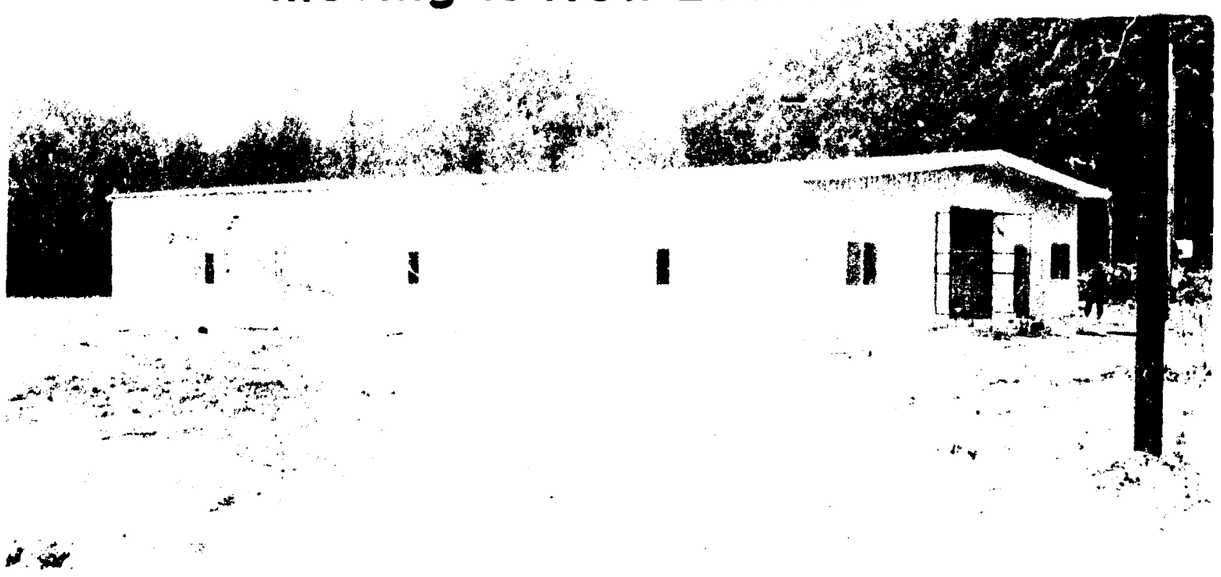
In addition, they said, one man was charged with throwing a missile, and another with resisting arrest, interfering with police and helping a person in custody to escape.

Watts declined to comment on the reason for the vandalism except to say it apparently was an attempt to get him to resign as AGC head.

The struggle between the union and non-union construction firms has been going on here since 1970, when several firms turned to non-union labor in the wake of lengthy strikes.

Previously W&W was heavily damaged by fire. And at least three bombings have been reported, including one which damaged a $12,000 bulldozer owned by a non-union firm.

Moving to New Location



The new home of Yocom Body Shop on N. Hervey is currently under construction. The 4,736 square foot metal building is scheduled for completion in the next few weeks according to Doyle Yocom, owner.

Mr. Yocom, who has been in the body shop business since 1958, states that he expects to move the business to its new location by the middle of June. Yocom Body Shop currently employes five men and is located on E. Ave. B.

Price Fixing Charged

DETROIT (AP) — Officials of General Motors and Ford Motor Co. deny charges in a federal indictment accusing them of fixing prices on automobile fleet sales.

A federal grand jury, concluding an 18-month investigation, contended Monday that "prices of automobiles in the fleet market have been raised, fixed and maintained at artificial and noncompetitive levels."

It charged the two auto giants with conspiring to fix prices and with attempting to maintain a monopoly in the automobile fleet sales market.

The "accusations in the indictment are not true," Ford claimed. The charges have "no basis in fact," said GM.

The National Automobile Dealers Association and the nation's largest auto-leasing company, Peterson, Howell & Heather Inc., were named as coconspirators, but were not indicted.

Both GM and Ford face $50,000 fines on each count. The charges were filed with a 12-page companion civil suit in U.S. District Court in Detroit by the antitrust division of the Justice Department.

The fleet car market consists of large-volume automobile purchases. It accounted for about 12 per cent of the new cars registered in the United States in 1969.

California Village in Hiding

By JEANNINE YEOMANS
Associated Press Writer

BOLINAS, Calif. (AP) — This windswept village on the Bolinas Lagoon would like the rest of the world to think it has disappeared. Road signs telling motorists where Bolinas is hiding and how to get there have been removed.

Dozens of signs have been chopped down during the night. County officials erect new ones and these too are eliminated.

"Eliminated is a kind word," fretted road superintendent Henry W. Miller. "What they do is take a chain saw and hack them off." He complained at least 20 signs costing $25-$50 each have disappeared in the last half-year.

"I guess they don't want anybody to know where it is," Miller said.

"The people in this town want to feel it's a town, not a tourist trap," declared Dan Deevy Jr., manager of the only grocery store. "Taking down the signs is one solution. And it works."

On weekends and summer days, the main street of Bolinas is cramped with camera-clicking tourists riding bumper-to-bumper amid weatherbeaten pastel cottages. Homemade signs point out "Smiley's," the saloon; "Scowley's," a restaurant; and "Snarley's," a delicatessan open Sundays only.

Bolinas is nestled in heavily wooded coastal foothills about 20 miles north of San Francisco's Golden Gate and just south of the bay, where Sir Francis Drake crashed his ship Golden Hind in 1579 after he missed the Golden Gate in heavy fog.

Residents include retired folks and young families who like the quiet and the nearby sea.

In short, Bolinas is isolated, but isolated in picturesque territory just perfect for a Sunday drive.

"We close on Sundays because of the tourists," says Deevy. "They dirty the place up and they only buy potato chips and little things."

At Smiley's Saloon, manager Mary Jenkins says patrons and most residents believe fellow residents are tearing down the signs. She and Deevy say this method of fighting crowds works pretty well.

Cabot Man Wreck Victim

CABOT, Ark. (AP) — Ronald Jones, 21, of Cabot was killed today when his car ran off Arkansas 319 north of here and struck a tree, police said.

Officers said a passenger in the car, Michael Collinson, 20, also of Cabot, was injured. He was hospitalized at Jacksonville, police said.

Club Endorses Pryor

Pryor is seeking the Democratic nomination for the seat now held by Sen. John L. McClellan, who is seeking reelection.

Pulitzer Awards Made

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times has won the 1972 Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service for its publication of the Pentagon papers, the 47-volume study of how the United States became involved in the Vietnam war.

The national reporting award went to syndicated columnist Jack Anderson for his disclosure of administration policy-making during the India-Pakistan war, as the trustees of Columbia University announced the annual prizes Monday.

But the trustees, in an apparently unprecedented action, issued a statement in which they expressed "deep reservations about the timeliness and suitability of certain of the journalism awards."

They did not specify which awards they referred to, but the Times said today it had learned that the controversy involved the awards to the Times and Anderson because of the way in which official government documents had fallen into journalistic hands.

In the awards for letters, the trustees gave the fiction prize to "Angle of Repose," by Wallace E. Stegner, a professor of English and director of the writing program at Stanford University.

Joseph P. Lash received the prize for distinguished biography for his best-selling "Eleanor and Franklin." He was a friend of the late first lady, Eleanor Roosevelt.

The general nonfiction prize went to "Stilwell and the American Experience in China, 1911-1945," by Barbara W. Tuchman, her second award in the category. She won in 1963 for "The Guns of August."

Performance Figures in May Stock Market Chilling

NEW YORK (AP) — Everything warms up in May, they say, but not in the stock market. A look at some of the performance figures for this fifth month is chilling.

Stocks just don't seem to blossom in spring, and that is one major reason why some otherwise bullish forecasters tend to be a bit cautious in what they say right now.

There is a name for what happens in the next two months, the May-June selloff. In every year but one since 1953 the Dow Jones industrial average has reached a lower figure some time in June than it attained in May.

The exception was in 1958, when the market was rising at a rate just about as fast as any since World War II.

You don't have to search for what are alleged to be explanations.

The most simplistic of these assumes that the big investors get ready for an idle summer by ridding their portfolios of any stocks that might intrude decisions on their summer play. It is sometimes called the pre-vacation slump.

Properly assessed, however, this explanation is unrealistic.

What appears to be a more scientific explanation is offered by The Stock Trader's Almanac, which puts market activity in graph form in so many ways that you have your choice of almost any intepretation.

It claims that "the most important observation to be made from a chart showing the average monthly change in market prices since 1955 is that institutions determine the trading patterns in today's markets."

In January, April and July—the beginnng of new business quarters—the Almanac claims, the institutions are active buyers.

So why isn't October also a strong month? It's a tight money month, a time for portfolio tax switching, the beginning of the new car year, the last month before election.

And what about November and December, which are probably the strongest months of all? That, says the Almanac, probably represents the action of corporate and other pension funds, which sometimes receive their funds in one lump at this time of year and rush to invest them.

$5,000 Damages Mothball Suit

LITTLE WORK (AP) — A Jacksonville woman filed suit in Circuit Court in Little Rock Monday for $5,000 in damages, alleging that her 17-month-old daughter became ill after eating a mothball the suit said was in an Easter basket.

In the suit, Mrs. Dorothy Head said that another daughter, Doris West, purchased the Easter basket at the Jacksonville Wal-Mart Store March 24 for 17-month-old Penny Head.

The suit alleges that when the child removed the cellphane wrapper from the Easter basket on March 25, she "ate a mothball which had been negligently and carelessly" placed inside the basket.

The suit said the basket had been prepared by the Fresh Pack Co. of Moline, Ill.

The suit was filed against Wal-Mart.

The girl's stomach was pumped at a hospital, the suit said.

Senator Hurst "Surprised"

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs aid Monday night he was "surprised" that Gov. Dale Bumpers had said that the Southland Racing Corp. situation might be reviewed by the state Racing Commission.

Bumpers said that the corporation might be reviewed because of the recent conviction in California of Emprise Corp. Emprise was convicted of conspiracy to use interstate facilities to acquire a hidden interest in the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas for the purpose of skimming profits from its casino.

Emprise owns stock in Southland, which operates a grehound racing track in West Memphis.

Bumpers said he expects to discuss the conviction with racing officials as soon as the transcript of the eight-week federal trial arrives in Little Rock from Los Angeles.

"In my opinion the governor should have bowed his head," said Hurst. "This was something he was urged to do many months ago."

Hurst, seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, said that it was an "embarassment" to the state for Bumpers to have waited so long.

Bumpers is seeking re-election to his second term.

"What he did Monday, he should have done months ago," Hurst said.

J.W. "Buddy" Benafield of England, chairman of the state Racing Commission, said he expected the commission to be called into a special meeting about May 10 that the Emprise situation would be discussed at that time.

Jeremy Jacobs, head of Emprise, which owns 4.6 per cent of the stock in Southland, says the conviction will be appealed.

Last year, the commission ordered Emprise to divest itself of all but 10 per cent of the Southland stock or the franchise would be revoked, but Circuit Court in Little Rock overturned that order.

New Directive on Classified Data

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's new directive on classifying national security material will streamline the system by providing earlier public access to more information while protecting data genuinely requiring secrecy, administration officials said today.

Nixon's executive order, effective June 1, is a chance to "get control of the classification flood, to lighten substantially the heavy burden it imposes on us while serving the public's need to know at the same time," said Deputy Asst. Secretary of State William D. Blair Jr.

J. Fred Buzhardt, the Pentagon's general counsel, described the order as a "sign fi[illegible] milestone in the efforts of the executive branch to provide a rational balance between the public's right to know about the affairs of government equally compelling need to protect certain information against unauthorized disclosure."

Their comments were in testimony prepared for a House government information subcommittee hearing.

A year-long study of the system, Blair said, showed that operation rules were too complicated, that too much power to classify was given to too many people and that the sheer volume of information has become so great that it overwhelmed any declassification effort which is not largely automatic.

Furthermore, Blair added, the conditions were contributing to a growing lack of respect for the classification system.

Nixon's new order, Blair said, simplifies the declassification system, restricts the power to classify, provides "for the first time a declassification system which is genuinely automatic," and sets a practical framework for monitoring the process.

Buzhardt said the idea of providing just one category instead of the existing three top secret, secret and confidential was considered but rejected by the order's drafters. With one category, he added, it would have been necessary to greatly expand investigations [illegible] those now required [illegible] secret security [illegible]
